

CAPRI SCHOOL OF EUROPEAN PROCEDURAL LAW

29 MAY 2023 - 1 JUNE 2023

ABOUT US

The Capri School of European Procedural Law is an intensive course of advanced training linked to the Postgraduate Course in European Union Law at the University of Naples (Federico II). The school aims to offer knowledge and expertise in the field of European litigation, before EU and national Courts. Lectures are given by high-profile speakers, including EU law Professors, Judges, Advocates general and Referendaires of the Court of Justice of European Union and lawyers from leading international firms.

WHY CHOOSE US?

Our aim is to provide high-level knowledge of EU Procedural law, given the central importance of this subject for modern lawyers.

WHAT WE OFFER

CSEPL is directed by Prof. Roberto Mastroianni, judge at the EU General Court, and Prof. Fabio Ferraro, Director of the Federico II Postgraduate Course in European Union Law.

Topics covered during the four days lectures will include

- the institutional framework of the Court of Justice of the European Union
- preliminary ruling procedures
- direct actions
- rules of procedure before the CJEU
- EU law before national Courts.

Students will attend the lectures in the marvellous scenarios of the island of Capri and Naples.

CSEPL meets ELMAA

We are pleased to announce our cooperation with the SUMMER SCHOOL ON EUROPEAN UNION LAW held by ELMAA - European Law Masters Alumni Association of Law School of Athens, in CORFU from 24 to 28 July 2023. Working in synergy, and with the aim of providing complementary knowledge of EU law, the two summer schools have decided to offer a preferential rate for those who attend both schools.
