The FIFA Football Law Annual Review

Football continues to thrive, reaching unprecedented levels of global popularity and success across both the men's and women's game. This progress is no coincidence: it reflects FIFA's consistent and determined efforts to make football truly global and unite the world through the beautiful game.

A strong and evolving legal framework is essential to help FIFA and the whole of the football community meet ongoing and new challenges in relation to this and other missions.

To that end, FIFA is committed to ensuring that football's legal stakeholders have direct access to information on key regulatory developments.

Since 2019, FIFA has hosted the Football Law Annual Review, providing a platform to share updates on regulatory work, case law and landmark decisions from FIFA's judicial bodies, as well as significant proceedings before the Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS) and other relevant tribunals.

The past year has brought another wave of important regulatory changes and impactful decisions from FIFA, CAS and the Court of Justice of the European Union making the Football Law Annual Review 2026 especially relevant.
